Honored guests,

On behalf of the United States Department of Commerce, I would like to congratulate the US-Polish Trade Council for its initiative in working to build stronger bilateral ties through technology and trade. Poland and the United States share common values, and in the course of the 21st Century will face common challenges. Technology and trade offer opportunities to create shared solutions that will not only further strengthen this relationship in the years ahead, but will also benefit the broader global community.

With appreciation and best wishes for a productive but festive day,
